Building collapses in wee hours

New survey of weak buildings on cards; Similar surveys were done in 2019, 2021

Mysuru, May 26 (MTY&BCT)- Every time a dilapidated building collapses, the authorities of Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) and the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) wake up and decide to conduct a survey to identify weak structures and issue notices to the owners that they will be held responsible for loss of life and limb. And after some days when the issue dies down, the survey idea is put on the back burner.

After a dilapidated structure that came crashing down on the road between D. Devaraj Urs Road and Shivarampet in the wee hours of today, the authorities came up with the ready answer — a survey of dilapidated buildings will be conducted and notices will be issued.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Ego is hell and misery is the material for hell. When understanding arises, the darkness of misery has to go. For understanding to happen, you need to put in effort … actually proper and adequate effort. For misery to go, you need such effort. For a lazy person, putting in effort is hell. Misery can exist in an effortless state. What is ego? Ego is an arrogant self. A self that is addicted to its point of view. A self that is proud of its achievement. For any achievement, one should be grateful and not proud. If one is humble, one will see there are many factors to one's success. To see many factors for your achievement gives a sense of humility and not vanity. Once there is humility, ego can't exist. In humbleness, there is joy. True joy is the death of the ego. When you are egoistic, you enjoy life in the form of pleasure and suddenly feel guilty. This guilt is also the result of ego.

We are imprisoned by the ego and hence in hell. Because of the ego, we are not growing. It is like a rock which is preventing the plant from going deep into the ground. Understand that ego is like a grave. Don't live in the grave and don't think it is a safe place. Ego is energy, but this energy has to be transformed in humility, in love, in true joy.

Man spends 36 hours on swing for record

England: Richard Scott, a British man spent 36 hours rocking back and forth on a swing set to break a Guinness World Record.

The 51 old year man, of Kinross, England, started swinging from 6:10 a.m. at Loch Leven's Larder cricket pitch and finished the 36 hours swinging the next day evening. Scott was allowed a five-minute break for each hour he spent on the swing, and he saved up his breaks to take a 3 a.m. nap.

Scott's 36-hour swinging marathon broke the record of 34 hours, which was set by Quinn Levy in October 2020.

The Rotary Club of Kinross and District, where Scott is a member, shared video of the record attempt on Facebook.

"It's been good, the tops of my legs are a wee bit sore but apart from that I've been fine. It's been a good experience," Scott told The Courier. "It's been challenging, but it's been really good. I'm very excited."

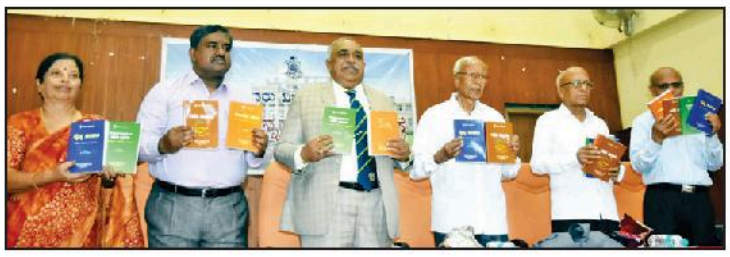
Digitisation of manuscripts in KIKS on the cards: VC



Mysuru, May 26 (PM&DM)- University of Mysore (UoM) Vice-Chancellor Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar said that the University is mulling on digitisation of all manuscripts in Kuvempu Institute of Kannada studies (KIKS), on the lines of Oriental Research Institute (ORI).

He was speaking after releasing four books — 'Vaidya Samputa' and 'Chandrasagaravarniya Mooru Krutigalu' edited by Dr. Y.C. Bhanumathi, 'Ganitha Vilasam' edited by Prof. K.G. Narayana Prasad and 'Virata Parva Samputa' edited by G.G. Manjunathan — at a programme organised at B.M. Shri auditorium in KIKS campus, Manasagangothri here on Monday.

Noting that KIKS has many ancient manuscripts and scriptures, Prof. Hemantha Kumar said it is proposed to digitise all of them and a meeting in this regard will be held soon.

Pointing out that digitisation of all scriptures is underway at the ORI, he said that the scriptures can be made available to everyone if they are in digitised version. Digitisation will also help in research, he added.

"KIKS has completed two encyclopedias and the work on two others is underway. The completed encyclopaedias will be released after the model code of conduct for the MLC polls comes to an end in about a month," he said.

Veteran Scholar & chief guest Prof. T.V. Venkatachala Shastry observed that constructive work as in the past is not going on at KIKS. He wanted the Institute to be more active and creative in taking forward the objectives and purpose of digitisation.

KIKS Director Prof. M.G. Manjunath said that the Institute is widely known for its research publications. KIKS has a major share in all of the University publications, he said. Writers Dr. Y.C. Bhanumathi, G.G. Manjunathan, Venkatadasappa (co-editor of Ganitha Vilasam) and others were present.

Make N.S. Road motorable

Sir,

This is in response to the letter in SOM dated May 10 on the pathetic condition of Narayana Shastry Road (N.S. Road) in the heart of the city. I happened to pass by the same stretch a few days back and I am amazed to see that in spite of complaints there is no one to hear the pleas of a common man.

It has been more than 2 weeks since someone had brought forward this issue. Looks like there is such a big divider in the middle of the road! How can the authorities be so careless? Are they waiting for any untoward incident to happen before laying a tar road?

What are the elected representatives doing? Where are the funds being utilised? Once monsoon starts everybody will start giving the same old reason of rain delaying the work.

I request the local authorities, area Corporator and to whomsoever it may concern, to look into the issue and lay a tar road for the safety of people (motorists) at the earliest and make the N.S. Road motorable.

Following an advertisement that had appeared on Facebook in 2020, Mohan had invested Rs. 2 lakh to Way Link Pit Stop Solutions Pvt. Ltd. company, which made Mohan the Business Partner of Mysuru district.

After paying Rs. 10,000 for four months, the company stopped paying him, the complaint stated.

Mohan has further stated in the complaint that one Reshma Chinnaswamy had met him at a hotel in Kuvempunagar to get his signature to the agreement copy and after getting his signature, Reshma told Mohan that she would get the signature of Ranjan Satish, the Managing Director of the company and send the documents by Speed-Post.

Mohan has also stated that apart from Reshma, he not meet anyone in person as all the dealing had taken place online besides stating that he had transferred Rs. 2 lakh to the account in the bank at Indiranagar in Bengaluru.

He also said that the company, apart from him, had also cheated many people from other States.

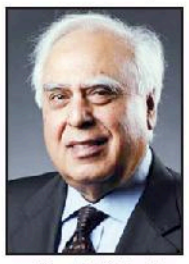
Kuvempunagar Police, who have registered a case in this regard, are investigating.

Kapil Sibal quits Congress

To be an independent voice

To strive for scrapping of 10th Schedule of Constitution used as a weapon by political parties

New Delhi, May 26 (Agencies)- Former Union Minister Kapil Sibal, who has been a vocal critic of the Congress leadership, announced that he quit the party on May 16 as he filed his nomination as an Independent candidate for Rajya Sabha (RS) with Samajwadi Party (SP)'s backing.



Kapil Sibal

He has decided to be an independent candidate and said there is no question of joining any other political party. "A time comes when I have to move forward to serve the Indian democracy and Parliament better by being an independent voice, an unshackled voice of the people of India and the opposition. I will now work to unite the opposition parties against the BJP and will continue to fight against the wrong policies and politics of the Modi Government," he said adding "To make the larger unity of opposition parties, one should show a spirit of accommodation vis-a-vis others and their views."

Sibal, who was Congress Minister in the UPA Governments and had won two Lok Sabha elections from Delhi, entered the Rajya Sabha last time from UP as a Congress candidate with SP backing. He had made his Parliament debut some decades ago by entering the RS from Bihar with RJD's backing.

The Supreme Court lawyer said he will also strive for 'the scrapping' of the 10th Schedule of the Constitution, which empowers the leadership of the political parties to issue whips to their respective MPs and MLAs to confine them to the party line and discipline and allow the leadership to disqualify those who violate it under the provisions of the anti-defection law.

"There is a need to get the 10th Schedule scrapped because it is being used by the leadership of political parties to suppress the independent views of elected representatives of the people of India," said Sibal.

"The 10th Schedule is being used to silence, to threaten disqualification (from the House) of anyone with a different view on an issue. Because of this, there is no democracy but only 'guided democracy' here, in every political party. That is a big concern," he said.

80th birthday celebrations of Sri Ganapathy Swamiji

Maintaining that the Swamiji has dedicated his entire life to Sri Datta Aradhana, he said that he was fortunate to have come from the land known for Datta Temple at Sankhali in the Assembly Constituency that he represents.

Pointing out that he has come from the land of Gomantak, which has produced many maestros of Sashtriya Sangeetha, the Goa CM said that with the blessings of the Swamiji, he will work to promote this culturally and spiritually rich identity of Goa.

Noting that the Swamiji started 'Shuka Vana' in Mysuru, which is India's largest aviary which houses more than 3,000 parrots, he said that Guinness World Record was given to this aviary for the world's largest collection of parrots in a single aviary.

"The Ashram in Mysuru is a wondrous spiritual place where temples, aviary, India's largest Bonsai Garden, Veda Pathashala and one of India's finest auditorium 'Nada Mantapa' are here. The Swamiji runs several Veda Pathashalas and Shastra Pathashalas where hundreds of students have studied the sacred Vedas and Shastras in Gurukul system for 18 years. It is important to note that many of them are acclaimed Vedic scholars today," Sawant said adding that many renowned musicians from India have given concerts at Nada Mantapa.

"We are blessed to have the Swamiji with us whose work on protection of environment and establishment of 'Shuka Vana', is very divine and will help the coming generations in sustainability. The Swamiji is also renowned for his Healing and Meditation Music and he is considered a divine guide who promotes the ancient Vedic traditions," he asserted, while also observing that the Swamiji's beautiful Keertanas, Vedic Pujas and Havanas brought Vedic scholars to the Ashram.

"It is indeed great that the Swamiji has established 85 Ashrams extending from the Northern part of the country to the Southern part. All these Ashrams have Datta Temple for worship, daily Annadan (mass feeding) for pilgrims and a free medical clinic for those in need. This apart, he has built a 85 ft. tall Hanuman in Trinidad, West Indies, which is the tallest Hindu deity in the western hemisphere. The Swamiji's interest in music and its healing qualities led him to conduct music concerts for meditation and healing across the globe," the Goa Chief Minister said.

"The ten-day spiritual celebrations now is a melting pot of Indian Cultures, Music, Art, Minds, Rituals and Happiness," he said adding that he shall request the Swamiji to visit Datta Temples of Goa and bless Goa by his visit. Sawant further said that he will seek the blessings of the Swamiji in our efforts to enrich the cultural legacy of Goa.

Sri Ganapathy Swamiji in his 'Anugraha Bhashana' (benedictory address), said that Gurudatta Deva is the 'Guru' for the entire population. Maintaining that he himself is a staunch devotee of Dattatreya, he said that worshipping Dattatreya will lead to happiness in life.

Noting that he was happy that Goa Chief Minister Pramod Sawant has come here for the birthday celebration, he blessed Sawant and all others with prosperity, well-being and happiness.

The virtual speech delivered by Prime Minister Narendra Modi wishing the Swamiji on the inaugural day of the ten-day celebration on May 22 was re-telecast. The Ashram's Junior Pontiff performed 'Pada Puja' of Sri Ganapathy Swamiji on the occasion.

Former Mayor Sandesh Swamy and a few other political leaders attended the event.

Earlier in the morning, Sri Chakra Puja and Ayushya Homa were performed. Today's programme also features a 'Guru Gita Parayana' by devotees and Sand Art by Nitish Bharti later in the evening (6.30 pm).

The ten-day celebrations will conclude on May 31.

University of Mysore Vice-Chancellor Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar and film actor Darshan greeted Sri Ganapathy Sachchidananda Swamiji on the Seer's 80th birthday at the Ashram premises this morning and sought Sri Swamiji's blessings. Building collapses

Fortunately, the building collapsed at 2.34 am today and there was not a soul or a vehicle on the road. The building on Pandit Jayaram Road adjacent to Tripurabhairavi Mutt, collapsed and the CCTV footage of the camera went viral today. The stretch has been barricaded now.

The CCTV camera was installed at the shop in the opposite lane and the video shows the collapsing frame by frame. The building was dilapidated for many years and it was left to collapse on its own. The area usually is filled with people from early morning till late at night as it is a prime trade hub.

2022 survey

Speaking to Star of Mysore, MUDA Commissioner G.T. Dinesh said that the buildings and properties come under MUDA and MCC. "We will conduct a survey of dilapidated buildings and tell the owners that they will be responsible for any accidents or in case of deaths. They will have to bear the costs. There are over 200 such buildings within the city limits," he said.

2021 survey

It may be recalled here that in October last year, the MCC began a survey of weak commercial and residential buildings within city limits and under its nine Zones. This was after the collapse of a house at Ittigegud (Indiranagar) on the evening of Oct. 11. Following heavy rains, a portion of the house on Periyathambi Road collapsed trapping three elderly women who were rescued later.

2019 survey

Even in 2019, a survey was commissioned to identify heritage as well as dilapidated buildings. At that time 25 buildings in the city were classified as dangerous and 50 of them were classified as unfit for residential purposes and needed to be demolished immediately. But no action was taken.

This morning, Chamaraja MLA L. Nagendra visited the spot along with MCC officials and asked them to demolish dilapidated buildings. "Even earlier, I had asked the officers to take action on these structures before any accident but nothing was done," he said.

Three-day Mango Mela in city from tomorrow

Growers from Mysuru, Mandya, Ramanagara Chikkaballapur and Kolar confirm participation

Mysuru, May 26 (MTY&BCT)- Mango Mela is back after a gap of two years and it will be held for three days from May 27 (tomorrow) from 9 am to 9 pm at Kuppanna Park in Nazarbad. The Mela could not be organised in 2020 and 2021 due to COVID.

The Department of Horticulture is providing a platform for hundreds of growers to showcase their produce and officials are expecting a good response. The Mela is being jointly organised by Karnataka Mango Development and Marketing Board, Department of Horticulture and Zilla Panchayat (ZP) Mysuru.

This year, only farm-fresh fruits that have been ripened naturally will find a place at the Mela and it will be directly from growers to customers. The Mela is usually held at the peak of summer and this year's weather is pleasant, thanks to unseasonal rains.

Apart from the popular varieties, there will be many special varieties of fruits at the Mela that will be brought from different parts of the country. Deputy Director of Horticulture Rudresh told Star of Mysore this morning that growers from Mysuru, Mandya, Ramanagara Chikkaballapur and Kolar have confirmed their participation and more than 20 stalls will be set up.

Stalls being readied at Kuppanna Park for the Mango Mela which will begin from tomorrow.

"We are expecting a per day sale of 25 tonnes of fruits in this Mela and the last time the Mela was organised in 2019, we saw stocks vanishing from the shelves every day," he added.

Deputy Commissioner Dr. Bagadi Gautham will inaugurate the Mela and the expo of different varieties of mango saplings will be opened by Zilla Panchayat CEO B.R. Poornima.

Joint Director of Horticulture H.M. Nagaraj will preside. Additional Horticulture Director Dr. Prakash M. Sobarad, Managing Director of Karnataka Mango Development and Marketing Board Dr. J.V. Nagaraj and Mysuru Superintendent of Police R. Chethan will be present on the occasion.

Rudresh said that more than 25 varieties of mangoes including the common varieties like Ratnagiri, Alphonso, Badami, Raspuri, Sendhura, Neelam, Amrapali, Kesar, Baganapalli, Malagova, Thotapuri, Dussheri, and Mallika will be on display. "We are offering the best quality mangoes at the best price. All the fruits are naturally ripened. The best fruits are available till June," he added. This year, there is a 40 percent drop in the yield due to delayed flowering and falling of flowers following unseasonal rains. Prolonged rain last year that increased moisture in the soil is one of the reasons for the delayed flowering and also crop damage.

The receding of the rainfall and bright sun has brought in new hopes for the growers and they are hoping to make some profits as this is the third straight year they are suffering losses, Rudresh said.

Coorg coffee makes its presence felt in Davos

CM Bommai says focus is Beyond Bengaluru; Tier 2 and 3 cities to get importance

Davos, May 26 (Agencies)- Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai yesterday launched the global investors meet at the Karnataka pavilion on the main promenade at the World Economic Forum (WEF) meet being held in Davos. Apart from presentations and videos, the participants were delighted to receive a packet of coffee grown in the State.

Bommai

WEF Summit concludes today and Bommai has extended his stay by another day to have one more round of talks with business honchos who have shown interest in investing in Karnataka.

The CM's delegation had taken samples of Arabica and Robusta variety of Coorg coffee and the same varieties of coffee grown in Chikamagalur. Every visitor to Karnataka pavilion was given coffee bags and a note.

"Karnataka, the GI coffee hub of India is home to five GI-tagged coffees. Along with Monsooned Malabar Arabica and Robusta Coffee, Chikamagalur Arabica and Coorg Arabica coffee showcase how Karnataka's magical beans are globally renowned," the note said.

Addressing investors and news agencies, Bommai said Karnataka is the safest place to do business and it is not competing domestically but at international level and listed hydrogen and ammonia fuel and semiconductors as next focus areas.

He said that nearly half of the foreign companies present in India are already in Karnataka and all of them are planning to expand and diversify in the State while many more are evincing interest attracted by the robust infrastructure, and ease of doing business in the State.

Bommai said the process to decongest the State capital Bengaluru is underway by developing many adjoining areas as well as tier 2 (like Mysuru) and tier 3 (Hubballi and Dharwad) cities while four more airports would be built this year.

"Karnataka's story is different from other States," he said.

Bommai said Davos experience has been excellent and he has witnessed that the international investor community has recognised India as an emerging economic giant and particularly Karnataka," the Chief Minister said. "In Bengaluru, because of the hi-tech ecosystem which we have, there are the highest number of R&D centres and our expertise in aerospace, defence, machinery tools and of course Information Technology and Biotechnology. We are also looking beyond Bengaluru for all these projects. That is necessary and work has already begun," he added.

DECODING MYTHOLOGY

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Lion atop an Elephant

A very common motif found in Indian art is the lion standing on top of the elephant, defeating it. These images are called the Gaja-Simha images, Gaja meaning the elephant and Simha meaning the lion.

Some Orientalist scholars have tried to explain this image as the triumph of Hinduism represented by the lion over Buddhism, and this has gained popular currency in political circles. However, this is a mischievous misreading. As we know, in Buddhist art, Buddha at birth was associated with an elephant, but Buddha himself is visualised as the great lion. Both the elephant and the lion are symbols of Jain Tirthankaras.

In Hinduism, the elephant is associated with Ganesha, the lion is associated with Narasimha. At the same time, you have images of Shiva flaying alive an elephant Gajasura. Shiva is also shown as flaying alive a tiger and a lion in combat. So, we cannot attribute simplistic communal meanings to it, but have to understand the metaphor that is being communicated.

Elephants are native to India, and India was famous for exporting elephants. Indian kings were called the Gajapati. While many people believed the Asiatic lion thrived in India it is becoming increasingly evident that lions were found mostly in Central Asia and in Iran, and only in a few small pockets of Western India, such as Gujarat. Tigers are more native to India. But the symbol of the lion came to be associated with kingship, thanks to the popularity of the power of the Persian Empire. Therefore, even lands such as Singapore (Simha-pur) and Sri Lanka or Ceylon (Simh-ala-dvipa) where there were never any lions came to be associated with lions.

In Ashokan art, the lion, the elephant was symbol of royal and spiritual power along with the bull and the horse. In ancient Persian art, a king killing lions was a sign of royal power. In India, the lion became the symbol of the king and therefore associated with the Goddess Durga. The king's throne, Simha-asana, was also associated with the lion. And therefore the symbol of the lion on top of the elephant was in a way the ruler of India or the mighty victorious towering over the mighty vanquished.

Some people try to equate the lion with the Kesari dynasty of Odisha and the elephant with the Gajapatis of Odisha but again, these associations have been found to be fraught. Perhaps a more metaphorical explanation would be that the elephant has always represented uncontrollable sexual energy while the lion represents spiritual energy that overpowers the bodily sensuousness. And perhaps that is why this image shows controlling of the senses. At another level, it represents the political power of the king controlling the material power of the elephant.

Merged images of elephants and lions are also found. They're called Vyala, or Yali, lions with the trunks of elephants. These are liminal beings. It is not clear whether these animals are vegetarians or non-vegetarians. This Yali is associated with the celestial body of mercury (Budh-graha), associated in astrology (Jyotisha) with the mercurial strength of communication. The mystery of the Gaja Simha will remain as people can give any meaning to it but it's clearly a potent image of triumph.

WORD OF THE DAY

Dander

Pronunciation: DAN-der.
Meaning: Dander is a synonym of dandruff and is also used to refer to anger or temper, especially in the phrase "get someone's dander up."
Origin: How did dander acquire its "temper" sense? There are several theories, though the evidence is inconclusive. It has been proposed that the meaning comes from the image of an angry person tearing out their hair by the fistful, scattering dandruff in the process. Some think it comes from a West Indian word dander, which refers to a kind of ferment and suggests "rising" anger (in English, ferment can mean "a state of unrest or excitement").
Example: "Unlike traditional vacuum cleaners made to handle a wider range of different messes, these next-level vacuums for pet hair are engineered to sweep away all of the stubborn pet fur..., allowing you to quickly de-fuzz your stuff and keep dander under control." — Korin Miller

THE ODD WORD

Datary

Papal officer who registers and dates bulls and edicts.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

As daft as a brush

Meaning: To be very stupid or foolish.
Origin: On the face of it, brushes wouldn't seem to be any more daft than anything else. As the source of the expression isn't obvious, various suggestions have been put forward as to what form of brush is being referred to; for instance: The phrase originated as 'as soft as a brush' and the brush is the tail of a fox. This is plausible in that 'soft' is a northern English term for stupid, and foxes tails are in fact quite soft to the touch. The brushes in the expression are the boys that were employed in the 18th/19th centuries to climb inside chimneys to sweep them. The theory here, which is somewhat less plausible, is that the boys were made into idiots by being repeatedly dropped on their heads when being lowered down the chimneys.
Are brushes daft? Not particularly, but then again I've never had a sensible conversation with one. In looking for early examples of 'daft as a brush' in print we find that it first starts appearing in the 1940s. The earliest that I know of in print is from an account of a court case, printed in the Lincolnshire Echo, June 1944: "I will agree with anything that says I am daft, daft as a brush, but I have enough sense to keep away from your daughter."

QUOTE BOX

Every life is a canvas and every interaction is a brush, therefore we'd be wise to consider how we handle the paint. — Craig D. Lounsbrough
